

Resonant Field Imaging™ Aura and Brain Imaging System

Resonant Field Imaging™ (RFI™) is an electromagnetic feedback and imaging process. This new technology gives detailed scientific information and objective interpretations for all Auras and bioenergy fields, and identifies the type and function of all bioenergies present in specific regions of the human brain. For the first time, RFI™ provides doctors, chiropractors, psychologists, alternative health practitioners, and other healers with powerful, objective information about how therapies and treatments affect their clients on an energetic level; and RFI™ is only 50 – 90% of the cost of other “aura imaging” systems on the market.

RFI™ generates complete psychological profiles that fully reveal the role of a patient’s psychology in their health condition. While it is not intended for medical diagnosis of specific illnesses, RFI™ does give comprehensive information about a patient’s health conditions, and provides a detailed and technical level of information that health practitioners can use as a factor in their professional decisions.

RFI™ is the first Aura imaging technology that can create full color bioenergy charts of objects, plants, animals, and even ambient bioenergy or brain waves in the air, so its use is unlimited.

The RFI™ system accurately identifies and interprets 15 colors of bioenergy, representing all 15 distinguishable colors of the optical spectrum, giving it the maximum possible usefulness for detailed and accurate images and interpretations.

Using the RFI™ system is easy – you simply 1) install the custom software on any PC or Macintosh computer, 2) turn on the digital frequency counter and test the environment for the presence of strong signals that would interfere with your measurements, 3) select the bioenergy region of interest within the software program, 4) collect the frequency measurement for that region on your subject using techniques discussed in the RFI™ Technical Manual, 5) enter the frequency data into the program to automatically convert frequency into color within the visible light spectrum, 6) repeat Steps 3 through 5 for the entire Health Level, Psychological Level and Chakra system (total of 40 regions), 7) view and print the resulting Aura and Brain images and interpretation reports for those images, and 8) save the image file and data for future comparison and analysis.

Earning income using or referring RFI™ is also easy. When you order a single RFI™ system, you automatically become a “Basic Research Coordinator.” Anytime someone orders RFI™ from ITEM and indicates that you referred them to ITEM, you receive a $100 referral commission. When you order two or more RFI™ systems at progressively larger discounts, you automatically become an “Advanced Research Coordinator.” In addition to receiving $100 referral commissions, you can also create your own business promoting RFI™ in your area, while earning profit from your sales. Complete details about both programs can be found on ITEM's website at <http://www.item-bioenergy.com/partner/index.html>. The RFI™ system is always “the hit of the show” at health and spiritual fairs and conventions. Many people who have invested in the RFI™ system have received a complete return on their investment in one weekend.

Your RFI™ System Includes:

- 290-page RFI™ Technical Manual and supplementary documentation, teaching you everything you need to know to become an expert in bioenergy science;
- Custom-engineered RFI™ Version 3.2 Software CD, available for Windows and Mac and in Spanish;
- RFI™ Hand-Held Frequency Counter and specially-tuned antenna, for measuring bioenergy frequency data for analysis by the software;
- 100% Cotton Lab Coat for reducing interference from your own body while taking frequency measurements;
- Lifetime License to use RFI™, with certificate, and free access to the password-protected RFI™ website containing upgrades and accessories;
- Lifetime technical support.

 As an Energy Medicine Practitioner,
I am convinced that RFI™ Technology is THE ABSOLUTE BEST measurement and marketing tool available.
